It will always be our endeavour to supply the very best Plants or Seeds, true to the description given in this catalogue, but it is a condition of sale of all Plants and Seeds sent out by us, that, though we give you our assurance that we are using all reasonable care in the selection, we accept no responsibility in regard to the crop or failure of crop. All orders are booked on the understanding that these conditions are agreed to and we also notify to the same effect on the invoice. If the conditions are not acceptable to you the goods should be returned at once.

Quotations are without engagement, but where the price is mentioned on the order we will refer back for confirmation if an increased rate has to be charged. If we fail to do this, the goods can be returned if the price is not approved.

When we are unable to supply the exact variety ordered, we use our best judgment as to substituting other varieties. Any such substitutions are always made with a due regard to season, locality and other conditions so far as known to us.

The substituted varieties are sent for your approval, and while we hope and feel sure that you will agree to what we have done with a desire to serve your best interests, you are at liberty to send back any such goods and we will promptly credit you with their value.

FIVE PER CENT. CAN BE DEDUCTED IF CASH IS SENT WITH ORDER.

Orders for plants are executed at

WHEN YOUR PLANTS ARRIVE.

The ground should be ready for them, having been trenched in advance to a depth of 3 feet—that is for shrubs and trees of a deep-rooting nature, smaller plants need less depth, but all plants are benefited by deep working.

The first operation is to prepare the holes. In soil prepared as we have indicated this operation will be very quickly performed. The marking out for each plant should be done in any convenient manner and a stake should be placed in each position so that you may view the arrangement and see if it is good before you proceed. Now take a flat board about $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet long and saw three notches in the edge of it—one in the centre and the others two feet from the centre, one near each end. Place the board on the ground with the centre notch fitting the stake. Insert two other stakes to fit the end notches and withdraw the first stake. The hole may now be dug between these stakes and when the tree is planted the board is replaced and the stem is fitted to the centre notch, thus securing the exact position intended.

The holes must be dug quite deep enough to receive the tree in its normal position with the roots well spread in every direction as nature intended. They must not be cramped up in any way. If a liberal supply of manure was worked in at the time of trenching you will not need so much in each hole now. Otherwise, you must dig the holes deep enough to receive it and it must be well mixed with the soil.

When planting, commence by filling in a little soil so as to form a mound in the centre of the hole rather than have it saucer-shaped. The idea is to form a cone on which to stand the tree at its right depth and then fill in more soil and the roots will naturally work in to the right position, sloping downwards and outwards towards the edge of the hole. The soil must be well pressed down—do it by hand, working it well and firmly among the roots. Loose planting is disastrous. If the soil is inclined to be dry, give a good supply of water at once, but cover up with soil on the surface after the water has soaked away. Do not leave a wet surface to cake and become hard around the stem and roots of the plant. If the soil is light and sandy it will be much benefited by an addition of good garden mould or clayey loam. This may be put in the hole, but, like the manure, it must be well mixed with all the soil. A layer of coarse rubble or any suitable refuse deep down in the bottom of the hole is of much benefit as it helps the drainage and keeps the soil open for root penetration.

If the plants reach you in pots, they are easily removed by inverting the pot and giving a light rap on the edge by striking it downwards on the top of a firm stake or other convenient object. If in $\frac{1}{4}$ -tins, the plants are also very easily removed without disturbing the roots. Look for the wire tie at the top edge, remove this and the tin can be stripped off by opening it at the folds which are easily seen. It is not quite so easy to remove plants from larger tins. The best way is to slit the tin down on two sides with a tin opener or other sharp tool and then you can pull it apart and remove the plant with all the soil adhering to the roots. If you wish to save the tin even at the risk of hurting the plant, then loosen the soil on all four sides with a spade before you attempt to remove the plant. Jam tins and such-like unsuitable receptacles are not used by careful Nurserymen as they are very difficult to deal with excepting at the risk of seriously injuring the plant.

In planting from pots or tins where the soil has not been disturbed, you proceed in much the same way as described above, but you want a flat or slightly hollow surface at the bottom of the hole just at the right depth for the plant to rest on and all soil filled in around or below the plant must be well firmed down otherwise the plant will sink to a lower depth when watered.

Should the plants arrive in a dry condition it is essential that they should be soaked and allowed to stand for some time before attempting to remove them from the tins or pots.

HERBACEOUS PERENNIALS.

Plants of this type are mostly propagated in the open ground and are sent out without potting up. They should, therefore, be ordered for delivery at planting time. In the Western Province that would be from May to September. With you it may be otherwise, so please tell us when you would like them delivered. Some kinds will have to be transferred to tins for out-of-season delivery and will then have to be held back for several weeks to become established. For this service an extra charge of 1/- each or 9/- per dozen is necessarily made.

CARNATIONS.

Of all the Herbaceous Perennials there is nothing more popular than the Perpetual Flowering or Tree Carnation.

The development of this favourite flower is a remarkable demonstration of what can be done by careful selection continuously applied. There are now numerous very fine varieties to select from and we know of no more satisfying hobby than the cultivation of Carnations, in which many amateurs have proved highly successful.

All the principal types are included in our list and opposite each variety the type is indicated, the variety names being in alphabetical order for quick reference.

Packing and postage: 2/- per dozen, 1/6 per $\frac{1}{2}$ dozen, 1/- per $\frac{1}{4}$ dozen or less. This includes box, packing and postage within the Union of South Africa. To other parts the difference in postage will be added.

Delivery: Carnation plants are available almost throughout the year but not all at the same time. We publish, from time to time in our leaflet "My Garden," a list of varieties actually ready and orders for any variety can be booked for delivery "when ready."

Raiser of some of the world's most famous Chrysanthemums.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The growing of these charming autumn flowering plants, whether for exhibition, for decorative cut flower or for garden effect, is a most interesting pursuit. Chrysanthemums do particularly well in our South African climate, producing excellent blooms with little attention beyond the necessary thinning out and disbudding.

Chrysanthemum Novelties.

By special arrangement with Mr. T. W. Pockett, the famous Chrysanthemum raiser of Healesville, Victoria, Australia, we are privileged to distribute the Novelties described below.

These are all of Mr. Pockett's own raising and he has sent the stock plants direct to us, in many cases before they have been distributed in other countries.

DELPHINIUMS.

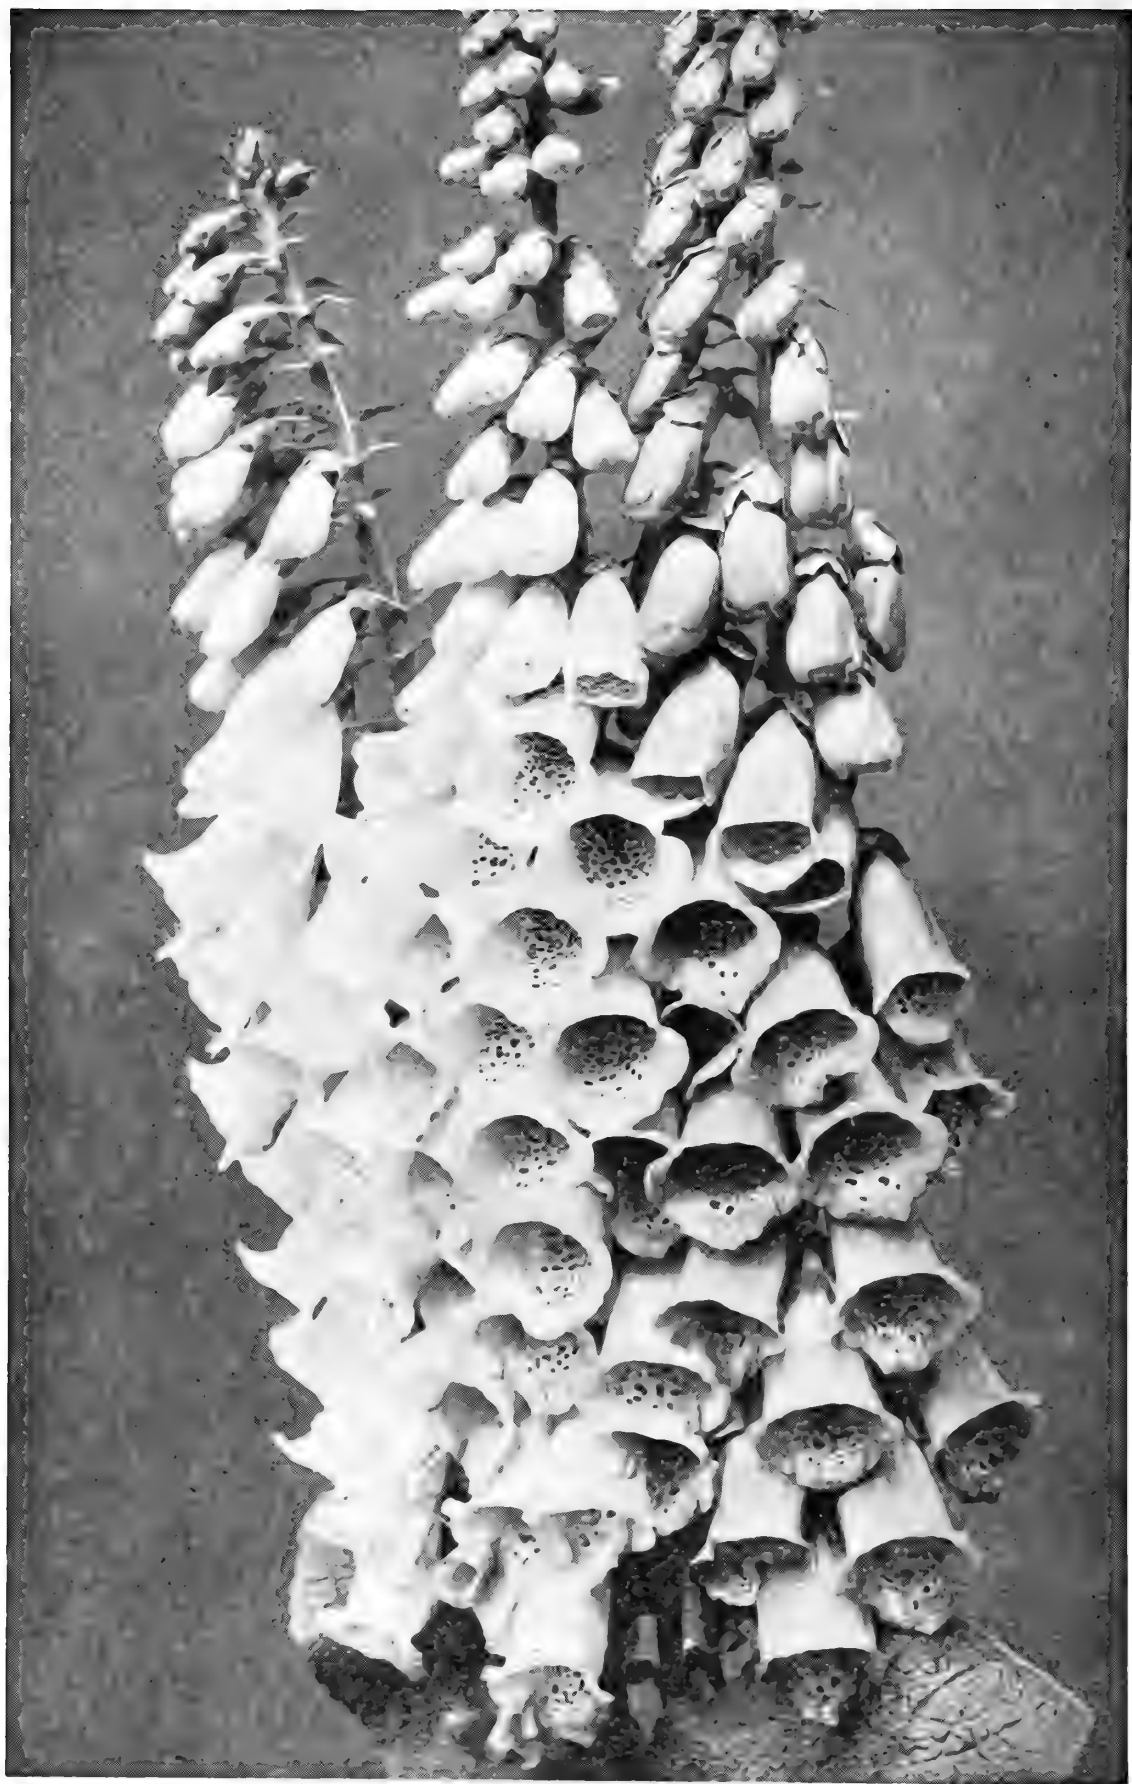

These beautiful plants provide numerous shades of blue, a colour which is all too scarce among flowers, and their great popularity is richly deserved. In them the results of careful selection and hybridisation are remarkably apparent. The striking columnar spikes of bloom are freely produced and the foliage is shapely and of pleasing character. We offer seed of the best strains.

Culture.—Delphiniums delight in rich, well manured soil and in dry weather they should be freely watered. Liquid manure may be applied in the growing season.

SHRUBS.

We are listing the smaller shrubs in the groups which follow here. Some of these are not strictly shrubs—the Ivy-leaved Geraniums, for instance, and some of the Mesembrianthemums—but we find the arrangement a convenient one and we hope no one will be misled by it. We have endeavoured to indicate the habit of the plant as near as we can in every instance. The General List of Ornamental and Flowering Shrubs will be found after these groups.

HYDRANGEAS.

These beautiful plants are easily grown and respond readily to special treatment. For instance, the blue colour which is so desirable, is not a permanent feature of any Hydrangea but is secured by treatment or it may be due to the soil, as for instance at Groot Schuur, where they naturally give blue flowers.

Some growers recommend alum and others, we understand, use sulphate of iron for securing the blue colour. The varieties described as blue in our list are specially amenable to the blueing treatment and will give their true colours, as described, when the conditions are right.

All prices quoted here are for plants in $\frac{1}{4}$ tins. Larger plants and flowering specimens can sometimes be supplied at higher prices according to size and value.

All varieties are 3d. less when included in a dozen. Packing is free when sent by rail. Plants from $\frac{1}{4}$ tins can be sent by post. The extra charge will be 1/6 per plant, for postage and packing, within the Union of South Africa.

MESEMBRIANTHEMUMS.

Under Succulents will be found many dwarf types of Mesembrianthemums and allied plants but those listed here are all of the shrubby type and differ materially from the succulents.

Among these are varieties of differing habit, some being upright in growth, others recumbent and others again of creeping habit and suitable only for carpeting. We indicate the habit as near as possible against each variety.

All varieties are alike in respect of the gorgeous colours of their flowers and their great drought resisting properties. They thrive in the hottest and sunniest of situations and should never be used for shady positions.

Prices include packing and postage for any address within the Union of South Africa. To other parts postage will be extra.

RHODODENDRONS.

These beautiful flowering shrubs are somewhat difficult to cultivate in South Africa but with suitable treatment they do remarkably well and very fine specimens can be seen growing at "The Hill," Claremont. A somewhat shady and protected situation is desirable and peaty or fibrous soil may almost be considered essential to their successful cultivation.

The plants offered are in tins, and quite too large for sending by post. If sent by rail packing will be free. All these plants are well grown and thoroughly acclimatised.

ORNAMENTAL AND FLOWERING SHRUBS.

The division between "Shrubs" and "Trees" is an arbitrary one. Many trees are listed here simply because they are suitable for growing as shrubs until too large for this purpose.

There are occasional items in this list which are neither Shrubs nor Trees but they will nevertheless be found useful in the Shrubbery and that is why they are listed here.

All Shrubs in $\frac{1}{4}$ -tins are charged 3d. less when included in a dozen. Those in $\frac{1}{2}$ -tins are charged 6d. less when included in a dozen. This enables you to obtain an assorted dozen at the reduced rate for that quantity. Packing is free when sent by rail.

Shrubs in $\frac{1}{2}$ -tins are too large for post but most kinds can be sent by post in $\frac{1}{4}$ -tins. The extra charge will be 1/6 per plant, for packing and postage within the Union of South Africa. To other parts the postage is very much more and will have to be ascertained specially on each occasion. In some cases it may be necessary to remove the tin to keep within limits of weight but as much soil as possible will be retained around the roots.

FOREST AND ORNAMENTAL TREES.

The division between "Trees" and "Shrubs" is an arbitrary one and many plants listed as "Shrubs" will make excellent specimens if grown as trees.

All trees in $\frac{1}{4}$ -tins are charged 3d. less when included in a dozen. Those in $\frac{1}{2}$ -tins are charged 6d. less when included in a dozen. This enables you to obtain an assorted dozen at the reduced price for that quantity. Packing is free when sent by rail and local delivery is free within our motor delivery radius.

Trees in $\frac{1}{2}$ -tins are too large for post but most kinds can be sent by post in $\frac{1}{4}$ -tins. The extra charge will be 1/6 per tree, for packing and postage, within the Union of South Africa. To other parts the postage is very much more and will have to be ascertained specially on each occasion. In some cases it may be necessary to remove the tin to keep within limits of weight but as much soil as possible will be retained around the roots.
